BOOM FOR CAMDEN

For a Big Dry Dock—Please Pass One This Way.

CAMDEN, Me., Oct. 1. Captain Andrew Gilkey, of Somerville, Mass., a retired sea captain, spending a few days in Camden, says the United States government needs three dry docks suitable to dry dock our large cruisers, one on the Gulf of Mexico, one at Hampton Roads, and another on the coast of Maine. The captain says he knows every mile of Maine's coast and Sherman Cove, Camden harbor, offers every facility for that purpose at a comparatively small expense. The government could have, easy of access, one of the largest and finest dry docks in the world.

Hichborn, Augusta; vice-consul, Will Bryant, Biddeford; secretary-treasurer, Percy H. Richardson, Portland; representatives, C. A. Bodwell, Sanford, Charles E. Litchfield, Lewiston.

LIEUT. PEARY

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 1. Lieut. Peary and his wife were to leave here for Boston at 6 o'clock but it is not learned definitely whether they actually did so or not, as they desired to keep their movements private.

BURGLAR BROUGHT BACK.

Freeman Will Have to Face Numerous Charges in Maine.

BOSTON, Oct. 1. Frederick L. Odlin, state detective, of Lewiston, Me., left this city on this evening's train, having in custody Andrew J. Freeman, and the latter's wife, Mrs. Sophie Freeman, wanted in Maine for several burglaries and larcenies. Freeman and wife were arrested in this city two weeks ago by an inspector who caught the man with stolen property in his possession.

Freeman has served three terms of imprisonment in Charlestown State prison. When taken to headquarters he admitted to Chief Inspector Watts that the property was stolen in Maine. A few days ago State Detective Odlin traced Freeman's residence to 84 Horton street, Lewiston, and there recovered about $1,000 worth of property stolen from residences in different Maine towns. The same detective identified property found in Freeman's possession as some stolen in Skowhegan. When Freeman was told by Chief Watts that he was wanted in Maine, he and his wife agreed to go back without requisition papers.

Detective Odlin said he was satisfied Freeman was the one who perpetrated the burglaries at the house of Charles F. Jones, Skowhegan; E. J. Lawrence, Fairfield, and H. D. Cornish, Bowdoinham, Me. The property recovered in Freeman's house on Horton street, was identified by those people. According to the Maine officer Freeman has been living in Lewiston about a year and a half and was known by nearly all of the prominent residents of that locality who respected him as a prominent tea and coffee agent.

Not long ago he married Sophie Siroir, a French girl living with her parents at 148 Oxford street, Lewiston, and soon afterward they went to live at 84 Horton street. Sophie is the one found with Freeman at the time of his arrest, and thus far she has refused to say anything in regard to the arrests. The police believe Sophie was entirely ignorant of her husband's reputation when she married him, but they believe she was cognizant of the last crimes he committed.

PRIZE FIGHT BILL.

First Step Taken in the Texas Legislature.

Sentiment in Both Houses Seems Against Prize Fighting

But the Struggle will be on the "Emergency" Clause of Bill.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 1. The members of the legislature called in special session to pass anti-prize fighting bill have been arriving the past twenty-four hours. The sentiment of both houses seems strongly to favor a law making prize fighting illegal, but a number of the representatives condemn the arbitrary feature of the proposed law which, in their judgment, would work injustice to innocent persons who might be ignorant of the new statute for weeks after its passage.

Little doubt was expressed to-day that the Senate will pass the bill with reasonable promptness. The result in the House is full of uncertainty, as, under the rules, a two-thirds vote of the entire legislature is necessary to pass an emergency bill. Men who have followed legislative work at Austin for years were predicting this afternoon that the session may last until the first of November unless the friends of the bill consent to eliminate the "emergency" clause in which event it will pass without material delay.

After the roll was called the presiding officer of the senate briefly explained the governor's purpose in calling the legislature in special session. He expressed the belief that the promptness with which the senators responded was an indication that they would pass the proposed anti-prize fight measure. He closed with the hope that the session might be harmonious and brief.

The first step in the direction of legislation was taken in the Senate and House to-day by the introduction of a bill.

The presence of a quorum being established in both houses the governor's message was laid before the two bodies. It was short, sharp and decisive. It contained no uncertain sound as to his attitude concerning prize fighting in general and the proposed contest between Corbett and Fitzsimmons in particular. The governor reviewed past legislation relating to prize fighting, which sport he characterized as brutal, demoralizing and denounced by every State in the Union. He enumerated States which have enacted laws making prize fighting a felony and urged that such laws should be operative from their passage.

He referred to the opposition to the "emergency bill" because of the large amount of money involved by the managers of the Florida Athletic Club and said such opposition was characteric of such exhibitions. "It rests," he continued, "upon the audacious proposition that a free people can forfeit or have bargained away the right to preserve the public peace, public morals and public safty."

The line was formed at the North Common and moved through the principal streets to the South Common where the play occurred. The start was at 10.40 and the signal to move was one stroke of the fire bells.

NEW COMMITTEE OF 70

To be Organized at Once in New York.

Charles S. Smith Says it Must be Anti-Tammany Fight Again.

Dr. Parkhurst Advocates Mass Meeting and a New Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. The Evening Sun says: As a result of the nomination of the Good Government club convention last night, Charles Stewart Smith, of Stamford, Conn., president of the chamber of commerce, today went to work to re-organize the committee of seventy or create a new committee for the purpose of nominating a union anti-Tammany ticket. Mr. Smith said today:

"The action of the convention last night was ill-advised and very unfortunate. The ticket nominated will not be accepted as a basis of union against Tammany. The issue in this campaign as in the last, must be a square fight against Tammany Hall and bossism.

"One of the candidates nominated last night, I understand, is an out and out Platt man. I regret exceedingly that the convention took such a hasty and ill-advised action. I have received this telegram from Dr. Parkhurst: 'Our only chance is to hold a mass meeting and create a new committee of seventy. Last night's inconsiderate and inharmonious action cannot but fall dead.' This fight must be Tammany and anti-Tammany."

Mr. Smith is apparently in full sympathy with the plan suggested by Dr. Parkhurst of calling a mass meeting to create a new committee of seventy.

MAY RE-ENTER POLITICS

At the Canadian Capital, Report Has It.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 1. Lieutenant Governor Chaplain, of Quebec, who arrived here last night from the Northwest, after having a conference with Archbishop Langevin over the Manitoba school matter, has been asked to enter the Bowell administration. This afternoon he met the premier and it is not improbable that he will again enter the government at Ottawa from which he retired two years ago owing to some misunderstanding with his colleagues.

STORY ABOUT STORY.

A Tale of Alleged Criminal Intentions Aired In Court.

BOSTON, Oct. 1. Charles W. Story, a business man of this city, was placed under arrest to-day on an indictment warrant issued against him in New Hampshire. The complaint alleges that Mr. Story in October, 1893, at Laconia, N. H., conspired with Postmaster Fred F. Johnson, of Winnisquam, N. H., to defraud the United States government by delivering to Johnson at the postoffice at Winnisquam a large number of circulars for mailing and for the cancellation of the postage thereon with intent to fraudulently increase the percentage that Johnson would receive under the postal rules governing such office and that this percentage was to be shared by Story.

Mr. Story denies that he mailed the circulars there for the purpose of receiving compensation and that he simply posted them at that office because it was near his summer home. He was held in $1,500 bonds till Friday next. It is settled that Johnson is under indictment in New Hampshire for the offence.

NO DIVORCES

In the State of South Carolina is the Cry.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 1. The debate continuing all through last night's session and nearly all of to-day's constitutional convention decided that there shall never be a divorce granted in South Carolina for any cause. The vote was 86 to 49. Senator Tillman did his best to have divorces of other States recognized in this State, but for once his appeals were heard with a deaf ear and he was voted down.

RIGBY PARK RACES.

Cold Weather for the Opening Day—Bingen Equals His Former Record.

PORTLAND, Oct. 1. The opening day of the fall meet at Rigby Park to-day was so cold that the attendance was small. Some excellent races were trotted. In the 2.29 trot Russell Egbert, winner of the race, lowered his record from 2.17½ to 2.15½. In the 2 year old trot Bingen equalled his former record of 2.19½. The summaries:

QUEER QUESTIONS.

Riddles Which Used to Be Asked by Philosophers In the Last Century.

There are half a dozen collections belonging to the last century of questions and answers. They are called the "Athenian Oracle," the "British Apollo" and other titles. Both the questions and answers are most curious and interesting. Of course a large part are religious or rather Biblical, but many illustrate old beliefs and superstitions. For instance, there are certain Biblical questions:

How long did Adam and Eve continue in a state of innocency?

Why did not Adam name the fish?

Why do angels have wings?

Who was Cain's wife?

Were there other floods besides that of Noah?

Why were ignorant men chosen as apostles?

What was Eve's fruit?

Where did the rock stand when he was heard by all the world?

Where was John going when he was 12 years of age?

Were there rainbows before the flood?

And here are certain secular questions:

Why do elephants have no joints?

What becomes of the flame when the candle is blown out?

Why do drowned men float on their backs and drowned women on their faces?

Is it a comfort to the unhappy to feel that there are others quite as unhappy as themselves?

What is a phenix?

Is there a race of pygmies?

Is it true that men have one rib more than women?

Do swans sing before they die?

What is the will o' the wisp?

Why are wits always cowards?

These questions the books treat solemnly and provide learned answers for them.—London Queen.

CURIOUS LAWS.

Diversity of Religious Opinion Once Forbidden by Henry VIII.

The old law books are curious reading, and give some funny ideas of what kings and parliaments thought they could do.

Henry VIII, for example, passed "an act for the abolishing of diversity of opinion in certain articles concerning Christian religion." It staggers one to think of how many acts would be required today "to abolish diversity of opinion" in religious matters. It is not generally known in Scotland—the home of football—that it is still illegal to play football. An act passed in 1424, and never repealed, says, "No man shall play at football under a pain of 50 shillings."

But Scotch ladies with a tendency to overdressing are in no better position. Their overdressing is still illegal. By an act of James II restriction as to dress is laid down, and only the wife of a bailie or alderman is allowed to wear "clothes of silk, scarlet gowns." No woman is to come to kirk or market with her face mussaled (or veiled), that she may be known.

In the reign of George III a bill was introduced for the improvement of the metropolitan watch. In this, "watches are compelled to sleep during the day." When read in committee a gouty M. P. said, "Let this act apply to members of this house, that my gout trouble me no longer by making me sleepless in the night."

Scotch temperance reformers will be delighted to hear that James I passed an act "that no man be found in taverns drinking after the strike of 9."

A GLIMPSE OF PALESTINE.

The Historic Pools of Solomon and the Tomb of Rachel.

The pools of Solomon lie on the left of the road to Hebron, and at a distance from Jerusalem of about two hours. Distances in the east are measured by time, not by miles, as with us. The distance in question, however, depends considerably on the condition of the road. When last I journeyed along it, the mud was so deep we had much difficulty in getting onward. At one place the horses came to a standstill. They were unable to drag the carriage, and we had to alight in order to ease the ship to make headway. We were sorry for the poor brutes, they were so cruelly used by the driver. One of them bled from the fierce blows he inflicted.

After a distance of one hour from the city, we arrived at the tomb of Rachel. The existing building in its present form is Saracenic, without claim to antiquity. It consists of four low walls, surmounted with a dome. It is much reverenced by Christians, Jews and Mohammedans. It is interesting in its sacred associations and is much visited by pilgrims. The spot will ever be regarded with tender emotion and sympathy. Here it was that Rachel, the loved wife of Jacob, died after having given birth to the babe she named Benoni, "son of sorrow." The patriarch later on referred to the sad event and related how he buried her "in the way of Ephrath, the same is Bethlehem."

The tomb is at no great distance from this latter place. For many centuries the spot was marked by a pyramid of stones, and it was in the fifteenth century that the existing structure was erected. We leave it and pass onward along the slope of the valley. We notice on our right the town of Bet-Jala, situated on the mountain side. It appears to correspond with the ancient Giloh, noted as the birthplace of Ahithophel, the counselor of Absalom. Its inhabitants are Christians.—Quiver.

The World's Papers.

A statistician has learned that the annual aggregate circulation of the papers of the world is calculated to be 12,000,000,000 copies. To grasp any idea of this magnitude we may state that it would cover no fewer than 10,450 square miles of surface; that it is printed on 781,250 tons of paper, and, further, that if the number 12,000,000,000 represented, instead of copies, seconds, it would take over 333 years for them to elapse. In lieu of this arrangement we might press and pile them vertically upward to gradually reach our highest mountains. Topping all these and even the highest Alps, the pile would reach the magnificent altitude of 490, or, in round numbers, 500 miles. Calculating that the average man spends five minutes reading his paper in the day (this is a very low estimate), we find that the people of the world altogether annually occupy time equivalent to 100,000 years reading the papers.

Jury Subbing.

Mexico has an ingenious plan for facilitating verdicts in jury trials. Two supernumerary jurors are drawn to sit near the jury box and listen to the evidence and arguments. If any of the regular jury falls ill or is otherwise disqualified from going on, one of the "supes" takes his place. In this way they avoid what is often seen in American courts—a long trial rendered useless when it is nearly finished by the sudden illness or death of one juror.

Ambition.

The road to ambition is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty and too dark for science.—J. J. Rousseau.

Whig and Courier.

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle Brothers, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

Congressman Sperry, of Connecticut, does not hesitate to express his opinion that the new tariff law is very unsatisfactory to the people of his State. The Congressman is a good Democrat, but he is not willing to endorse this inefficient legislation. This frank statement coming at a time when free trade editors are trying to vindicate the law by bogus statistics is calculated to prove very troublesome.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald admits that the alleged treasury surplus will disappear this month when the Government will have to meet "heavy payments," but hopes that towards the end of the quarter the receipts will once more change and another and larger surplus be accumulated." But the deficit cannot be wiped out by these tactics. The Treasury Department has twice figured out a surplus to make a "good showing," but when, as is now the fact, the Government, if it meets all honest obligations, pays out more than it takes in, it is impossible to cover up the deficit for any length of time. It might be added that before the close of a Democratic Administration the Government was able to meet all of its payments, heavy and otherwise, and to have a surplus in the Treasury.

It includes all wire nail works in [illegible] with hands, also two of them [illegible] hands, each twice repeated, [illegible] with 1,000 three times, and two [illegible] with 500 each, making 22,500 [illegible] 1,000. It includes all furnaces of the Mahoning and Shenango [illegible] as having 2,000 hands, and then the Mahoning furnaces alone as having [illegible] the Mahoning furnaces again, [illegible] of these with 1,000 hands, and [illegible] of them with 500 hands and [illegible] with 175, and the Shenango furnaces separately, twice, and one of them [illegible] hands and again part of them and the Newport furnaces, twice. It includes the Illinois Steel Company with 7,000 hands, and parts of its works twice more, and its works at Joliet three times. It includes all the Providence woolen mills, and then most of them separately once, and three of them three times. Twenty-seven cotton mills are so repeated as to make forty-three, and a dozen other woolen mills are repeated, some twice and some three times. The cotton mills of Fall River are all included once, and then at least three of them separately; the Lowell factories all, and then at least two of them separately; the New Bedford factories all, and two of them separately; the great Lewiston mills with 4,000 to 5,000 hands each are repeated twice, not ten days apart; besides about a dozen cotton and silk mills inserted twice each.

These duplications alone swell the list by about 80,000 hands, 43,200 in iron manufacture alone, but the fraud goes further. Many establishments are included which are entirely unknown to to the best trade directories, and some of them are repeated twice or thrice. The exaggerations in stating the number of hands employed are simply amazing. Thus the Mesaba range, with its output of about 2,000,000 tons this year, is reckoned as having 14,000 miners, which by re-duplication is swelled to 21,700, and this would make the ore cost about 85 per ton at the mines, though it is sold at about $2.50 per ton at Cleveland. In fact, 600 tons per miner is the average there, and 6,000 men would do the work. The cloakmakers at Cincinnati are reckoned at 24,000, though the whole number employed in all clothing manufacture there is but 15,000, according to the census. No less than 45,000 hands hired by the sweating system are credited in four cities, where there are half as many. The sheet iron works of Pittsburg, mostly included already in separate establishments, are added in a body as 32,000 men, and the tin plate workers there as 12,000, either statement being absurdly untrue. The anxiety to inflate the list fraudulently is so great that hands on two steam railroads and several street railroads are included, with dock laborers at Erie and city laborers at Joliet, and brickmakers on the Hudson river reckoned at 20,000.

Eliminating fraudulent duplications and exaggerations, it is found that the number of establishments of which facts are given is reduced from over 500 to 180 of which only 166 are found in trade directories, and the number of hands employed is reduced from over 420,000 to 258,915, including coal and iron miners, garment makers, railroad and street car hands, brickmakers and the like. Of manufacturing establishments proper, the number of hands remaining is about 212,000, but, in order to make the investigation complete, facts about as many as possible of the 250 concerns enumerated, of which data were not given, have been ascertained, thus adding 77,925 to the number of hands whose wages have been advanced. These added, the actual increase appears to cover 334,840 hands, divided as to industries and as to time of advance as follows:

	Iron.	Wool.	Cotton.	Other.	Total.
September	....	2,600	....	....	2,600
October	500	1,370	5,000	30	6,900
November	700	650	....	1,700	2,650
December	300	....	....	....	300
January	....	....	4,000	200	4,200
February	....	700	....	....	700
March	....	....	....	15,500	15,500
April	19,600	15,000	21,100	15,500	77,400
May	49,625	2,625	8,000	16,500	77,150
June	46,625	6,600	15,000	5,500	73,725
July	29,500	5,465	3,000	9,500	47,465
August	8,250	5,850	20,700	350	35,190
Total	154,600	41,250	80,150	64,800	326,840

It appears that during the first six months under the new tariff there were practically no advances, and in March the only considerable advance was by the Frick Coke Company, credited with 15,000 hands. After Congress had adjourned, and not before, the rise began with 77,400 hands in April, reached 77,000 again in July, and has since been less than 10,000 per month. Of the manufacturing hands, about 291,000 in number, almost half are of the iron industry alone, about 24 per cent. of the cotton industry, only about 14 per cent. of the woolen industry, and about 8 per cent. of all other manufacturing concerns. The iron industry has been able to advance prices 53 per cent. since March without meeting new foreign competition until this month, and has raised wages of about a quarter of the iron-working hands, in this country. The cotton industry has realized a profit of $11,000,000 on cotton bought when it was cheap, and has raised wages of about a third of the cotton workers in the country. Not a fifth of the woolen workers have gained, not a tenth of the miners, and not a twentieth of the hands employed in all other manufactures. The advance averages for all the 326,840 hands 10.2 per cent., about half the reduction in 1893 and 1894. Such is the record of the year, when stripped of the frauds and falsehoods with which free traders have tried to cover it.

Railroad Contract Not Carried Out.

Important Military Operations---Pardon Refused---Other Foreign Matters.

Panama, Oct. 1.—The Star and Herald has the following special despatch from Bogota. The excitement over the claim of the English firm of Punchard McTaggart and Lowther increases daily throughout the country.

The firm agreed to construct the Antioquia railroad and make or obtain a loan to carry out the contract, but failed to do so. The government rescinded the contract, being convinced that the firm had no money or credit. The government paid the firm a subvention of 300,000 pesos which should have been refunded. The firm now claims 6,200,000 pesos damages, and is supported by the British legation here.

An arbitration committee was formed, the president of which was the German Minister, but the claim is considered so unjust that the German colonies in the principalities of the Republic petitioned their government not to permit its minister to meddle with the affair. The intervention of an English statesman Mr. Lowther, brother to one of the members of the firm, with the foreign office is spoken of.

The position of the British Minister Hunter is held to be responsible, owing to the course he has adopted.

The German government ordered the German minister to withdraw from the arbitration committee. The form and of a new committee is proposed. Owing to the infamous character of the Colombian public opinion is clamorous for the withdrawal of Minister Hunter.

POLO PLAYER ARRAIGNED

Charged with Cruelly Beating a Pony.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 1.—In the first district court today there was much interest manifested in the case against Robert G. Shaw, the famous polo player of the Myopia Club, charged with cruelly beating a pony and also with unnecessary cruelty to a pony in the polo game at Wenham.

Several agents of the S. P. C. T. A. testified to having attended the game and to having seen Shaw cruelly beat and yank his pony an drive him at a terrific pace. When the horse came in it was dripping wet, its eyes protruding, and there were marks of spurs on its flank, and the horse was breathing heavily and appeared thoroughly exhausted. After being rubbed down, the pony was taken out again and ridden some ten minutes.

Dr. Chas. R. Wood, veterinary surgeon of Lowell, testified as to the effects of beating on a horse. In a hypothetical question, embodying the circumstances of this case as given by the agents, witness was asked to state whether the horse, in his opinion, had been over driven. This was objected to as being a question of fact for the court to pass upon and not a witness. The question being admitted, witness stated that these symptoms would indicate nervous exhaustion of the pony.

TRAIN ROBBER ARRESTED.

Admits He Was a Member of a Gang of Bandits.

Neenah, Wis., Oct. 1.—James Smith was arrested last night charged with being one of the men who wrecked and robbed a train on the Wisconsin Central railroad at Waupaca, a few nights ago.

Smith and Jack Connors, better known as "Diamond Jack" came into Neenah last evening and started on a debauch. They had not got far, however, before the sheriff got on their track. He arrested Smith, but Connors got away. When accused of being implicated in the train robbery Smith broke down and made a confession.

He admitted that he was a member of the gang of bandits which consisted of four men and said that the leader of the gang was Jack Connors. Connors was the man who had attempted to blow the safe while he and the others were on the outside firing their revolvers.

Smith says that since the robbery the men have been in hiding in the swamps near Hancock and Bancroft. Connors has a bad reputation and is believed to have been implicated in several other big jobs. Officers are after him and expect to get all three of the men before night.

THE OLD STANDARD

SANFORD'S GINGER, tried and true, is so rich in health preserving properties in the midst of summer dangers that it is almost criminal to be without it. No other ginger is so pure, so speedy, and safe. For the stomach, bowels, and nerves, for colds, chills, and touches of rheumatism, it is a panacea without an equal.

Containing among its ingredients the purest of medicinal French brandy and the best of imported ginger, it is vastly superior to the cheap, worthless and often dangerous gingers used as substitutes. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER and look for our trade mark on the wrapper.

Magistrate Jerome, in the court of special sessions in New York, Monday, took occasion to sharply arraign from the bench the district attorney for not bringing to trial the violators of the excise law. Magistrate Jerome said the magistrates believed the excise law should be modified in some respects, but it was their duty to see the law enforced and uphold the police in enforcing it. It was true that this court could not control the actions of the district attorney generally, but there was power in the State which could control even the district attorney. Mr. Jerome said the transcript of his remarks would be forwarded to the Governor. District Attorney Fellows, when told what Magistrate Jerome had said, declined to answer the magistrate's remarks.

At both meetings the same resolutions were adopted and speeches made by men prominent in civic affairs, all of whom favored the freedom of the island.

A despatch from Constantinople to London says a number of Armenians made hostile demonstrations against the authorities there Monday. The police attacked a mob, killing several persons and wounding others. Many persons were arrested.

Advices have been received at Paris from Madagascar that General Duchesne crossed Omkareka mountains September 23. Two divisions commanded by General Voyrons and General Metzinger will concentrate for the capture of Antananarivo, the Malagassy capital.

A special to St. Louis from Oaxaca, Mexico, says word comes from Pinoteps that seismic phenomena continue there. At one place the earthquake and ocean was so violent as to destroy the beach, and the waves rolled up to the walls of neighboring ranches. A great drought accompanied these alarming manifestations and the farms are nearly ruined. Fishermen dare not go out to sea, as the earthquakes have been continuous for many days. They say a volcano is forming under the ocean. Priests ordered the church bells to be rung, and prayers were offered, imploring Divine mercy.

Rev. George W. Holland, D. D., died suddenly of heart disease, at Columbia, S. C., Monday, aged fifty-seven years. He was president of Newberry College, and one of the foremost educators of the South.

The arrest of a woman by the gendarmes caused a riot at Gyula, Bekes County, Monday. The mob tried to rescue the woman and attacked the gendarmes with stones. Failing to disperse the rioters, the gendarmes fired a volley into the crowd, killing one person and wounding eleven.

Ex-Gov. W. E. Russell, of Boston, declares as nonsensical the statement printed in a New York morning paper that he would Monday formally announce himself as a presidential candidate.

BUSINESS PROSPERITY.

English Syndicate will Manufacture Boxes.

Car Works and Oil Cloth Factories, Idle Two Years, will Start Up.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 1. Signs of returning industrial and business prosperity are beginning to increase here. The announcement is made to-day that an English syndicate has leased a large factory on South Broad Street for five years and will manufacture paper boxes. The plant has been idle nearly two years.

The Fowler car works at Elizabethport which have been shut down since 1893 have been purchased by the Lewis Car Company, of Brooklyn, which will reopen the extensive plant very soon and give employment to several hundred hands.

The oil cloth factory on Grove street, which also has been idle for a couple of years, has been leased by a foreign company that will make felt hats and give employment to about two hundred persons.

IMPORTANT SUIT

Of Interest to Newspaper Publishers and Manufacturers.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 1.—The Daily Picayune, through its attorney, filed a suit in the civil court yesterday which is of considerable importance to newspaper publishers and manufacturers generally. The petition prays for an injunction to restrain the city of New Orleans and the state of Louisiana from seizing the property of petitioner and disposing of the same to satisfy taxes.

The city has assessed a tax amounting to $402 on the Mergenthaler Linotype machines in use at the Picayune office which the Picayune refused to pay as the Machines are part and parcel of the machinery necessary to publish the paper. The petition avers that the tax on the machines is unconstitutional null and void. The outcome of that suit will be awaited with great interest.

IMPORTANT WITNESS

To Testify in Durrant Case.

San Francisco, Cala., Oct. 1.—The most important witness the defence has yet secured to testify in behalf of Theodore Durrant charged with the murder of Blanche Lamont is Dr. Frederick W. Ross, one of the accused student classmates at Cooper Medical College.

On his testimony, supported by that of Dr. R. H. Carter, Dr. G. T. Hesse, and others of the students, the defendants attorneys will depend largely to prove that Durrant could not have been in front of the Normal school at seven minutes past two o'clock, the time Mrs. Vogel testified he made his appearance there.

MARINE NEWS.

Lighter Destroyed, of Mallory Line.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. Fire, which was discovered on the lighter O. F. Martin at one o'clock this morning, spread rapidly to the Mallory Line Pier. It destroyed the lighter with 1,500 bales of cotton, and burned the whole top of the pier before the firemen could control it. The cause of the fire is unknown. The lighter was owned by the Mallory Steamship Company.

A watchman named Bribell is supposed to have been on board the lighter during the fire and to have suffocated.

Schooner Towed into Port in Disabled Condition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. Steamer Rio Grande arrived in port this morning with the schooner J. J. Moore in a leaky condition. Capt. Barstow reported that he fell in with the schooner on September 30, at 8.40 A. M., seven miles southeast of Five Fathom Bank lightship, showing signals of distress. A line was passed to the distressed vessel and the Rio Grande towed her into port. A tow boat relieved the steamer off Bain Ridge and took the schooner to the city. The schooner J. J. Moore was built at Kennebunk, Me., in 1875, and is owned in New London, Conn. She is commanded by Capt. Landser and is employed in the coast trade between New York and Chesapeake Bay.

ANARCHIST ARRESTED

For Distributing Obnoxious Handbills.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. The police, last night arrested Alix Benjamin, anarchist, for distributing obnoxious handbills. The objectionable matter was extremely inflammatory, containing such sentences as "remove your p'lice and meet us on the platform," and "the basis of government throughout the world being neither goodness nor justice, the great lesson mankind have to learn is how they may speedily deliver themselves from the moral and political theories that enslave them."

Other papers such as "Rebel and Firebrand" are being distributed, and Inspector Schaack is determined to put a stop to the spreading of this class of literature. Several meetings have been announced by the anarchists, and when the police visited the place advertised no meeting was found. It is the opinion of the inspector that the anarchists advertise a meeting at a certain place in order to deceive the police and then carry on their secret conferences in some out of the way nook or corner.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 1. The Bank of Monett and Bank of Purdy have been closed by the State bank examiner because of insolvency. These make 13 banks closed since the execution of the new bank examination law, begun on July 1, besides half a dozen others that anticipated the examination by making assignments.

MAINE MELANGE.

Portland People Swindled by a Traveling Man.

Bath Iron Works Laid Keel for R. H. White Yacht.

Cumberland.

A most unpleasant disturbance caused by four drunken roughs occurred on the White Mountain division Sunday. They insisted in riding in the first-class cars and making themselves obnoxious, were ordered to the baggage car. Here they commenced the row by disobeying the orders of Baggage Master Percival and in the several fights that ensued a finger of the latter was badly bitten by one of the gang, and Orrin Ballard, of Sebago, who was assisting Percival, received a bad cut. Deputies arrested two of the roughs at Union station and they will be handed over to New Hampshire authorities as the fight occurred in that State.

Fifty Portland people are now reported to be mourning the loss of a dollar and a picture apiece, many of the latter being of great value to the owners, who entrusted them to a traveling man on his representation that he would deliver a crayon copy of each about Aug. 1st. The concern he claimed to represent was in Rochester, N. Y., and nothing further was heard from him until last week, when several of those interested received postals from somebody in Newark, N. J., saying that he had bought out the Rochester concern and would send the crayon and frame on payment of $5.00 more. This many of the victims have refused to do, as the original price agreed on was only $3.00, delivered at the house.

Sunday evening, just before ten, a man pushed his way through the screen door, and thence through the back door of the kitchen of Dr. Whidden's residence on Congress street, at the head of Park street, in Portland. He wandered about the lower part of the house, the family happening to be up stairs at the time, and finding the dining room table set for supper, he pocketed all the silver spoons and departed. A man who saw the thief issue from the house thought he had been up to mischief and called the attention of Officer Foss. The officer followed the chap and on Free street, near the church, came up with him. The fellow was coolly munching an apple. The officer told him he was wanted and the man made a resistance. He was taken to the station and thirty-two spoons found on him.

Miss Jennie M. Bolster, daughter of Dr. David P. Miss Bolster is cashier of the Gannett & Morse concern.

The milkmen of Gardiner have formed a protective union and hereafter unless a citizen is prompt in his payments, his family must go without milk until he squares up, as no delinquent debtor will be supplied, even for cash, until the debt is paid.

Sagadahoc.

The keel for the yacht Peregrin to be built for R. H. White, of Boston, was laid at Bath Iron Works Saturday and work upon her will be pushed steadily forward. Material for the elegant steel steam yacht which is to be built for Eugine Tompkins of the Boston theatre, has been ordered.

The necessity of making new propellors for the Ammen ram Katahdin will delay her trial trip for three weeks. Work on the new wheels has begun.

Saturday evening two Bath young men garbed themselves in women's attire and went out on the streets. A police officer "caught on" and shadowed them, intending to make an arrest when he could do it without attracting too much attention. The two men went into a Centre street store, and the officer getting tired of waiting, so it is said, went in to arrest them, but was fooled, for they had "caught on" to the fact that the officer was shadowing them and escaped through a back door.

TO ADORN BLENHEIM.

Five Million Will Be Given by W. K. Vanderbilt—Wedding Day Fixed.

Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough will be married on Nov. 14 in Grace Church, New York. Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D., Bishop of the diocese of New York, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Huntington. Mr. William K. Vanderbilt will give his daughter away at the altar, but whether or not he will appear at the reception, which is to follow the ceremony at the residence of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Madison avenue and Seventy-Second street, is a question nobody seems able to answer. In deference to British custom, the marriage will be celebrated at noon and will be followed by an elaborate breakfast, thoroughly English in all its details. The Prince of Wales, it is said, will send a representative to this country to attend the wedding. The Duke's mother, the Marchioness of Blanford, will also be present, likewise a number of his relatives. His best man will be one of his relatives. That Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt or any of Mr. William K. Vanderbilt's family will go to the wedding is considered quite improbable. Society is asking itself whether Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt will present his niece with the silver dinner service purchased by him years ago of the Duke's father. It was formerly used at Blenheim and each piece bears the arms of the house of Churchill.

Honeymoon on the Valiant.

The young people will make the trip in regular fashion, quite by themselves, aboard Mr. Vanderbilt's yacht Valiant, which he will place at their disposal. On their arrival on the other side the Duke and Duchess will proceed to Saxony, where, through the hospitality of the Emperor of Germany, they will spend a few weeks in some picturesque out-of-the-way castle.

Their visit to Germany over, they will go to Blenheim by way of Paris, where they will be joined by Mrs. Vanderbilt. Blenheim is one of the finest estates in England, or in the world. It is situated in Oxfordshire and contains about 2,700 acres.

When Mrs. Louis Hammersley married the present Duke's father Blenheim had suffered greatly from the want of money to keep it up. She at once set about restoring it as much as possible to some of its old-time splendor, although it could never be fully restored at any price, for many of its superb art treasures went under the hammer at the Marlborough art sale in 1886.

Five Millions on Blenheim.

In addition to the dowry of $10,000,000 to go with Miss Vanderbilt upon her marriage with the Duke, another settlement of $5,000,000 has been made by Mr. Vanderbilt. This last sum, it is understood, will be entirely expended on Blenheim, and will enable the Duke and his young Duchess to keep it up in regal state. The future Duchess of Marlborough will be presented to the Queen by the Marchioness of Blanford at one of the spring drawing-rooms.

Mrs. Vanderbilt and Miss Vanderbilt have come to New York. Besides the splendid settlement Mr. Vanderbilt has made upon his daughter, it is understood that he will give her some superb jewels, among other things a long string of pierced diamonds like the one he presented her mother some years ago. It is two yards long and consists of large matched gems. The Duke's mother will bring the Churchill jewels over with her for her son's bride.

They Shocked the Indians.

While the Princeton geological students who were lost from view for awhile were the guests of Chief Washakie of the Shoshone tribe they gave a college yell for the benefit of the red men. The effort was electrical. Some of the Indians endeavored to stop their ears; others retreated, and a few rushed from their tents, seized their rifles and awaited results. The chief himself, forewarned by the interpreter, was unmoved.—New York Tribune.

CITY AND VICINITY.

People have no reason to complain of the weather that has been given us the last of the summer and fall so far.

At Sorrento Monday, work was begun on the town's new $100,000 water works. One mile of pipe is to be laid this year.

D. L. Wormwood has been appointed town treasurer of Whitneyville to fill the unexpired term of the late James Pope.

The plans and surveys owned by Col. Greene referring to the Shore Line road have been turned over to the directors of the company.

Edgar C. Smith, of Brownfield, and Charles W. Noyes, of Orono, passed a successful examination for the Piscataquis county bar Monday.

Hon. A. F. Crockett and Hon. C. E. Littlefield, of Rockland, with their wives, are on a fortnight's tour in Aroostook and Washington counties.

Schooner Irving Leslie Captain E. A. Churchill, arrived in Sedgwick harbor from the Grand Banks the 27th and sailed the Saturday following for Orland where her fare will be made.

It is reported that the two-masted schooner Anna Shephard of Camden, Greenlaw, master, Elizabethport, N. J., to Rockport, Me., was leaking badly, in latitude 40.40, west longitude 72.10, and her water casks were empty. The schooner Baker supplied her with fresh water and she proceeded Friday.

The three masted schooner Nellie J. Dinsmore which was built at Lubec in 1872, and has since been laid up at South Portland for two years, has been sold to South Portland parties and will be used as the foundation of a wharf. She has been floated and will be held in position by means of piles driven around her.

The Manufacturers' Gazette notes a growing disposition among well-equipped and wealthy timber land owners in Maine and New Hampshire to cut less spruce timber in years of depression and to let their forests grow, well knowing that the demand for spruce, both for pulp and for lumber, must in a few years be urgent. The Gazette predicts that prices will be enough higher to make the holding more profitable than investments in any other real estate.

After several years of talk, says the St. Croix Courier, St. Stephen & Milltown railway is now practically an established fact. The greater part of the grading of the road is now completed, the tenting is well along and the laying of the rails will be commenced at once. The road connects with the C. P. R. and Shore Line at Milltown and will serve as an outlet for the lumber mills at Milltown and Baring, from which large quantities of short lumber are shipped by rail to the States. The road will be completed by December 31st.

R. H. Burnham, of Rockland, who has just been elected imperial recorder of the Order of United Friends, will leave Friday with his family for New York where his headquarters will be. His resignation as city clerk of Rockland has been tendered and a successor will be chosen at the meeting of the city government next Monday night. W. O. Fuller, Jr., Capt. A. C. Hunt and E. A. Jones are candidates for the position and the prospects are that this three-cornered fight will be almost as warm as that of last spring when T. E. Simonton was elected tax collector on the 35th ballot. The vacancies in the school board caused by the resignation of Dr. R. B. Miller and H. O. Gurdy will also be filled. J. Fred Merrill, an ex-mayor, and F. W. Smith, for many years a member of the school committee, are mentioned as the city council's choice.

A Rockland man the other night found a man under the bed, but it was his wife who first heard the intruder. Mrs. George Hayden about 2 o'clock in the morning noticed that a lamp left burning in the next room seemed to be going out, and asked her husband to attend to it. He did so, and had just got ready for another nap when his wife heard something rustle under the bed. At her suggestion he got up again, and was glad he did so, for the first thing he saw was a man's head. He sprang for his throat, dragged him out, and held him with one hand while with the other he put on the clothes his wife handed him, meantime shouting to his son and sending the boy after a policeman. The man begged to be released, declaring that he was merely drunk and didn't know where he was; but after the officers had taken him in charge it was found that he had broken open three doors and braced one back to afford a chance for a hasty departure, and had taken off his boots while he went over the house.

The Maine man who rigged up a common alarm clock so that it would open a sluice and let some grain fall into his horse's feed box at a certain hour in the morning is doubtless an original inventor in one sense of the term, but the plan is in operation in New York and other cities on a still larger scale. One clock, specially designed, is made to operate from twenty to forty clocks in a single stable, and perhaps a dozen stables are now so equipped. These are mostly owned by milk companies. It is often desirable to have these horses fed at a very early hour, and this plan makes it possible to give them grain or any other stuff, which can be stored for hours and then dumped through a hopper long before the man who must clean and harness them is out of bed. The boxes that contain the food over night have trap-doors in the bottom and are provided with suitable spouts discharging into the manger. From each trap-door a wire runs to the clock, which is arranged to liberate at the designated hour a heavy weight that moves a lever to which all these wires are fastened.

Stockton Springs News.

Our correspondent writes: Our summer visitors are leaving and, in fact, nearly all are gone, but occasionally a new face greets you.

Capt. Edward Hichborn is home for a short visit, with his mother and sisters, Mrs. S. J. Hichborn and Misses Emma and Nellie Hichborn.

Mrs. Irene Whitcomb, of Monroe, is visiting at Mr. I. H. Griffin's. She is eighty-five years of age and as quick and bright, intellectually, as a person of sixty. She is not as quick in her movements as she used to be, but is full of energy, and thinks nothing of walking a mile to spend the day with a friend and then returning again at night. She much prefers walking to riding. Her hearing is perfect. She is the widow of Rev. Oliver Whitcomb.

Mrs. Hattie Coombs, of Lincolnville, spent the past week with relatives here in the village.

Quite a company went from here to Castine, Saturday, on the yacht Halmer to witness a ball game between the "Red Seals" of Stockton and a Nine of Castine. The score was 17 to 26 in favor of Castine. They all report a delightful time, but did not get home as soon as they had hoped, owing to the tide being against them and a very light breeze. The yacht was anchored at 11 P. M. off Squaw Point and there the larger part of them waited for the tide to turn in their favor. Many did not reach home till six o'clock Sunday morning, looking tired and forlorn. Some were landed at different places in the harbor, by boats, when it was found they must anchor, and were obliged to walk, in some cases, quite long distances.

VIA SOLITARIA.

Alone I walk the peopled city,
Where each seems happy with his own.
Oh, friends, I ask not for your pity—
I walk alone.

No more for me you lake rejoices,
Though moved by loving airs of June.
Oh, birds, your sweet and piping voices
Are out of tune.

In vain for me the elm tree arches
Its plumes in many a feathery spray.
In vain the evening's starry marches
And sunlit day.

In vain your beauty, summer flowers,
Ye can not greet those cordial eyes.
They gaze on other fields than ours—
On other skies.

The gold is rifled from the coffer;
The blade is stolen from the sheath.
Life has but one more boon to offer,
And that is—death.

Yet well I know the voice of duty,
And, therefore, life and health must crave,
Though she who gave the world its beauty
Is in her grave.

I live, O lost one! for the living
Who drew their earlier life from thee,
And wait until, with glad thanksgiving,
I shall be free.

For life to me is as a station
Wherein apart a traveler stands—
One, absent long from home and nation,
In other lands.

And I as he who stands and listens
Amid the twilight's chill and gloom,
To hear approaching in the distance
The train for home.

For death shall bring another mating
Beyond the shadows of the tomb.
On yonder shore a bride is waiting
Until I come.

In yonder fields are children playing,
And there—oh, vision of delight!—
I see the child and mother straying
In robes of white.

Thou, then, the longing heart that breakest,
Stealing the treasures one by one,
I'll call thee blessed when thou makest
The parted—one.

AMERICAN NATIONALITY.

Before the Revolution the True Sentiment Was Little Known.

Prior to the war of the Revolution the sentiment of American nationality can scarcely be said to have existed. The history of the colonies down to the time of resistance to imperial taxation shows hardly a trace of such a sentiment. Pennsylvanians were content to be Pennsylvanians; New Yorkers to be New Yorkers; Virginians to be Virginians; Carolinians to be Carolinians. Even without any real and strong drawing toward a common form of government, we might fairly have looked in the history of this time for at least some prophecy of Americanism. It might have been the dream of poets, the theme of orators or at least the toast of students, like German unity from 1818 to 1866. But we do not find so much as this. Neither for practical nor for sentimental reasons did the union of the American colonies appear a thing practically to be desired.

It is not necessary to take time to refer to the differences of history and political organization, the differences of race, of speech and of religious belief, the differences of social ideas and customs and modes of living which tended to keep the colonies apart. The imminence of hostilities with the mother country sufficed to draw the colonies together for the purposes of a common resistance, and acts were done and decrees and declarations were made and pledges and promises were given in 1774 and 1775 which looked toward a permanent union of the insurgent colonies and which doubtless had a certain effect in impressing the public mind favorably to that result. The momentous Declaration of Independence in the midyear of 1776 must have had a still greater influence in convincing the public mind that, in the words of Benjamin Franklin, "all must hang together, or they would hang separately," and the fortunes of war, sometimes joyful, but more commonly painful, during the five following years undoubtedly produced not a little of true American sentiment.

Common experience of that sort, whether of victory or defeat, must, it would seem, have a great power to generate instincts and feelings of common interests and a common destiny. Indeed, had there been no intermediate stage before the formation of the constitution, during which the feebleness of the ties formed in war for the purposes of common resistance to the mother country were painfully demonstrated, we should naturally have assumed that the sense of American nationality was developed during the Revolution to some very high point.—Forum.

The "Great West."

The "great west," it was called, this country, and properly. It was bounded on the north by the great lakes; it was intersected by the three great rivers—the Ohio, the Mississippi and the Missouri—and the natural distinctions and differences between the west and the east were from the first marked, and the one great feature that commenced to make of the western man a new creature and different from the eastern man was not the big lakes and the big rivers—it was the big prairie. Ohio had some prairie, and Indiana had more, and Illinois had the biggest prairies of all, and it was the prairies and the work of bringing them into subjection that made the western man—made him out of the eastern man, made him out of the southern man and every other kind of man who came out into the immensity of the western earth and sky.

The development of the west, beginning at the east line of Ohio, has been accomplished within considerably less than a century. Here and there are old men or women living who saw if they do not remember the start. Enough time has not yet elapsed for the west to become anything else than the west. The building of the west, the oldest west, is so recent that the chips are lying all about.

The watchword of the west is and always has been "big." The west was first distinguished from the east—from the "Old Thirteen"—by its superior bigness, wideness and openness. The western farmer, who perhaps was the first in the world to run a straight furrow a mile long, turned out a different style of agriculturist from the gardener or the patient cultivator of a few stony and slanting acres in the east. All classes of western society took their cue from the big farmer; their inspiration from the big country. The west was not in the beginning, and is not now, more different from the east than are the people of the respective sections.—Detroit Free Press.

RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH.

Dexter, Me., Sept. 17, 1895.—"My little girl's health was seriously impaired and she lost her strength until it seemed to be an effort for her to sit up. She had no appetite and was troubled with scrofula. She began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and we could see a marked improvement at once. She is now in perfect health." MRS. J. W. DOOLAN.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no stomach or bowel trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They work as if their bodies were made of iron and their brains of steel. They eat as if they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles; health goes and strength goes. It is really wonderful how much abuse the human body will stand! It is equally wonderful how quickly it will recover from abuse if one helps it a rational, natural way.

It was to give just such help that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets were prepared. They are for constipation and torpid liver, and in curing those derangements—cure many complications and resultant diseases, such as sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are mild in action—merely supplementing nature. They are the result of years of study and experience, and there is nothing else like them—nothing so effective. If your druggist tries to sell you something else he is either ignorant or makes more money out of the other thing.

Our little baby of two months was badly afflicted with Eczema. It began when she was three weeks old, and in spite of all our skill and that of two good physicians, she continued to grow worse. Her head, arms, neck, and limbs, and, in fact, nearly every joint in her body, were raw and bleeding when we concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The child being so small and delicate, we began with CUTICURA (ointment), and CUTICURA SOAP, according to directions, and after the first application we could see a change. When we had used the remedies one week she was very much better, some of the sores had healed entirely and had ceased to spread. After using them for less than a month, the child was free from scales and blemishes and to-day has as lovely skin and hair as any child. She was shown at the Grange Fair when four and a half months old, and took the premium of a silver cup, as the prettiest baby, over sixteen others. We recommend CUTICURA REMEDIES to all our friends, and can not praise them too highly.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Sowing the Wind" To-night.

During the run of "Sowing the Wind" at the Empire Theatre, New York, season before last a profit was realized for Mr. Charles Frohman of $60,000, it is reported. At the same time Mr. Sydney Grundy, the author, received about $20,000 in royalties. Under the old-time system of royalties, at so much for each performance, Mr. Grundy would have made only about $1,000. But Mr. Frohman outbid all other managers for the American rights of this play, and his judgment of its drawing powers has proven accurate. Last season the play had an eight months' run in the principal cities of the country. It comes to the Bangor Opera House tonight, when it will be presented by the complete original Boston cast which played in that city for over fifty nights last season. Here is the roster: Messrs. J. H. Gilmour, Thomas Whiffen, H. J. Carvell, S. E. Springer, Guy Standing, Frederick Strong, Harry Phillips, Fred Harrison, and Misses Mary Hampton, Emily Dodd, Ella Hugh Wood and Jessie Dodd.

Fatal Accident.

As the result of a fearful accident at the farm of John Johnson in Unity, near the Burnham line, on Saturday evening last, the death of Mr. Fred K. Hussey, of Albion, a prominent horse breeder and brother to C. W. Hussey, of Waterville, occurred.

Mr. Hussey had been at the Exeter races and had decided to drive home with the two horses, Pauline, by Combination, and Van Demon, by Van Helmont, hitched up double. They made a quick trip to Mr. Johnson's where Mr. Hussey thought to spend the night. The horses were put up and fed and Mr. Hussey also had eaten his supper. Just before going to bed he took a lantern and went into the barn to look after his horses, when by accident the lantern was overturned and broken, setting fire to the hay.

Mr. Hussey stamped the fire for some time trying to extinguish it, and receiving in so doing some severe burns. When he found he could by no means put out the fire, he rushed down stairs and endeavored to save the two horses. Van Demon was successfully taken from the barn and it was when trying to rescue Pauline that he received the burns. Pauline was much excited and at first would not budge, then was forced to turn in the stall, and in doing so got caught and burned to death with the other stock. Mr. Hussey after giving up hope of saving the mare, turned and rushed for the barn door, having to go through a sheet of flames and, falling before exit was effected, would then and there have come to his end if it had not been for Mr. Johnson's coming to his rescue. As it was, his clothes were burned off and the flesh terribly burned.

As Mr. Johnson's buildings were entirely consumed, Mr. Hussey was taken to the home of Benj. Reynolds where everything possible was done for his comfort. His wife and family physician, Dr. Withee, of Albion, arrived during Saturday night and remained with him until death mercifully relieved him from his terrible sufferings about 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hussey was 37 years of age, much respected by all, and leaves a wife and two young children.

Mr. Johnson's buildings were a good set and in fine repair, there being a loss of $5,500, with no insurance.

The trotting mare Pauline, which was burned in the barn at the time, was owned by George Clark, of Bingham. She was driven in the 2.33 class at Exeter, September 26th, being distanced in the fourth heat, trotted in 2.31¼. Her mate in the span, Van Demon by Van Helmont, had made a half mile in 1.06.

Danforth News.

Our correspondent writes: Miss Lizzie Butterfield is going to Portland soon to attend school.

Miss Hattie Springe is teaching at Vanceboro.

C. H. Merrill, the genial proprietor of the Eureka Hotel, has purchased the trotter known as Maud Ellingwood. He started her in the races at Houlton last Saturday and won the first money in 2.29¼. He is much elated over his success thus far with his horse.

George Carleton, editor and proprietor of the Border News, made a business trip to St. John last week.

Sportsmen inform us that partridges, deer and other game are unusually plenty this fall. The facilities for participating in the hunting sport are quite good in this section as the woods but a few miles from town abound in various kinds of game.

Rev. Mr. Towle was at Island Falls a few days last week.

MAINE BAPTISTS.

Continuation of the Session in Oldtown.

The convention of the State Baptists was opened Tuesday morning, Rev. A. E. Kingsley, of Bangor, having charge of the devotional service, after which Rev. E. A. Davis, pastor of the Oldtown church, gave an address of welcome. The President, Rev. A. J. Padelford, D. D., then gave a brief address, calling attention to the growth during the year. He emphasized the need of enlargement in endeavor and support.

A growing body needs food according to its demands.

The next matter was the annual sermon by Rev. A. J. Ford, of Eastport, from Revelations 5: 12. He referred especially to two facts: Incarnation of worthiness and a recognition of worthiness. Under the first point the speaker emphasized the fact that vicariousness enters into all the true standards of worthiness. Life centered in self is unworthy.

Vicariousness involves a sacrifice of self and a suffering for others. Under the head of recognition of worthiness men have a natural desire for recognition. This desire need not disturb the true man. For the man of force and fibre will not be wanting in recognition.

The sermon was very helpful and interesting.

The report of the committee on obituaries was made, showing 11 ministers deceased and an equal number of deacons.

Dr. Dunn, the State secretary, then gave a band of welcome to 10 recently settled pastors.

Greetings from the Congregationalists were brought by Rev. S. D. Towne in a very happy manner; from the Methodists by Rev. Mr. Dow. Both emphasized the fact that denominational loyalty is not incompatible with the heartiest good fellowship.

The interdenominational commission work was represented by Rev. S. D. Towne, Dr. Burrage, of Portland, and Secretary Dunn, of Waterville. All spoke of the good results directly and indirectly through the work of the commission.

The report of the State Secretary revealed the fact that the gain in members this year is the largest for eighteen years. Three new churches have been organized. All the bills for convention work have been paid.

The afternoon session was given to hearing reports from the different missionaries and the destitute fields of the State. All spoke encouragingly.

In the evening Boston W. Smith, superintendent of the chapel car work, gave a most interesting account of how that work started and the progress which has since been made. The closing address was made by Rev. C. A. Spaulding, of Boston, on the work of the Baptist Publication Society.

He emphasized the fact that the denominational work in all the world is dependent upon the distribution of Bibles and denominational literature.

The convention will be continued today and to-morrow.

The programme is as follows:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY FAIR

Opened at Oldtown Tuesday—Good Racing But Small Attendance Owing to the Cold Atmosphere.

The Penobscot County Fair opened at Oldtown yesterday for three days and the full entries in the various departments promise a good exhibition. The weather was cold yesterday and the attendance at the races was consequently small.

The three minute class, purse $100, was won by Belle Franklin, entered by E. T. Lord, Charleston; Lucy Nelson, entered by C. H. Nelson, of Waterville, was second; Pilot Wilkes, entered by F. A. Ripley, of Liberty, third, and Cyclone, entered by G. B. Gilbert, of Brewer, fourth.

The best time was 2.31.

The first heat of the 2.35 class was won by Little Miss, entered by C. H. Nelson, of Waterville. Gipsy B., entered by Brennan & Stevens, of Bangor, won the second and fifth heats, and Mildred H., entered by D. E. Clement, of Levant, won the third and fourth heats. The race was not finished and will be trotted off at 12.30 P. M. to-day. The best time was 2.33¼.

The judges were Messrs. A. B. Chase, of Dover, starter; L. H. Ryder, of Oldtown, and Samuel Guptil, of Milo.

The races were closely contested and as each class was well filled they were interesting, the only drawback being the lack of spectators. With milder conditions there would doubtless have been a large crowd.

Today the 2.30 and 2.48 class will be trotted.

C. H. Nelson, of Waterville, has a string of horses, headed by the famous Nelson, at the fair and each class has some rapid steppers. The track is in good condition.

The exhibit of farm products and various kinds of displays opened last evening at City Hall and is extensive and well worth inspecting.

The fair will be continued to-day and to-morrow and as the management has made provisions for the interesting entertainment of all visitors there will probably be a large attendance if the weather is suitable.

Seminary Rhetorical Society.

The first rhetorical of the season of the seminary was held in the Seminary Chapel last evening.

The exercises opened with singing by the audience, followed by prayer led by Prof. Beckwith. The reading by Miss Anna B. Snowe was heartily applauded as was also the solo singing of Miss Etta S. Henry. Both these artists are well known to Bangor audiences and always insure a pleasant and interesting hour.

The debate, which was the all-absorbing topic of the evening as it dealt with a question the churches are considering more and more in these latter days of liberal views, then followed. Mr. Morson, '96, defended the affirmative, while Messrs. Newcomb, '97, and Beadle, '98, did the same for the negative on the following question:

Resolved, That it is right for the church to adopt in its social life, such amusements as billiards, cards, dancing, amateur theatricals, bowling, out door games and gymnastics.

After the opening arguments by the leaders, Messrs. K. E. Coans '97, and J. H. Mounsey '97 spoke from the house on the affirmative and negative respectively. Mr. R. R. Morson closed the debate for the affirmative and Mr. E. H. Newcomb for the negative. The question was well handled and reflects credit upon the participants.

The vote on the merits of the question was, affirmative 4; negative 19; and on the merits of the debate, 17 affirmative, 9 negative.

The exercises of the evening closed with a solo by Miss Henry.

There was a large audience present and the members showed their interest by giving close attention and heartily applauding throughout the entire hour.

Miss Curtis was the accompanist of the evening.

The New York Recorder says of Mrs. Hall: "The clever writing and speaking of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall have earned her the title of 'the woman humorist of the country.' Von Moltke's Wit.

On one occasion, when Von Moltke was in a south German town, the news leaked out that the great general had arrived. Sitting in the dining room of a hotel, somebody addressed him, saying that he had heard that Von Moltke had arrived and that he wondered what he looked like. To which Von Moltke ingenuously replied "What should he look like? Why, like one of us."

The Bird of Paradise.

The bird of paradise is found wild in India and central Africa. It was so called not on account of its beauty, but from the fact that the earliest dealers cut off the ugly feet and legs of the living specimens and gave out that the bird came from the other world and did not alight in this, as it had no need of feet.
